CONGRESS APPROVES ALIEN BILL WITH ASIATIC BAN

Both Houses Adopt Report Fixing July 1 as Date for Exclusion; Now Up to President

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE)
WASHINGTON, May 15.—Congress, disregarding the demand of President Coolidge that the Japanese immigration problem be adjusted through diplomatic channels, adopted today by overwhelming votes in each house the conference report on the immigration restriction bill which provides for Asiatic exclusion after next July 1.

CORDOVA (Alaska) May 15.—Storm-lashed waters around Attu Island prevented the three United States Army air cruisers encircling the globe from leaving for Paramashiru Island, Japan, yesterday and moderate weather today enabled the aviators to continue inspection of their machines, according to a wireless message received this afternoon. They probably will hop off tomorrow.

The steamer Catherine D. of the Pacific American Fisheries, on which Maj. Frederick L. Martin, commander of the round-the-world expedition, is returning to the States after wrecking his plane against a mountain, left Port Moller, Alaska, at 9 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

The planes at Attu, a tempest-tossed island at the western tip of the Aleutian chain, held their positions nicely, said a message from Lieut. Lowell H. Smith, acting commander of the aerial expedition. The flyers were ashore in a shack. The Haida had returned after the wind subsided, and Lieut. Smith's message was sent from her.

Lieut. Smith reported that the storm, which carried snow and rain, had been so violent that to

FOLEY NOT TO CAPTAIN TAMMANY

Stepson of Dead Leader Says Health Not Fit to Undertake Task

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE)
NEW YORK, May 15.—Tammany Hall, which spent the day rejoicing in the fact that its leader, James A. Foley, had accepted the leadership of the organization, was thrown into consternation tonight when the surrogate positively declined to accept the post left vacant by the death of his father-in-law, Charles F. Murphy. He said he was physically fit to assume the responsibilities.

It was known that he did not want the position, but it was generally understood last night that he had yielded to the insistence of the board of directors. A hurry call was sent out late today for another meeting of the executive committee of Tammany, which was to be held behind closed doors at the Wigwam tonight. William Allen, chairman of the committee, said the election of another leader would result in a few days.

Today, however, it developed that he had not actually accepted the post last night, although an announcement that he had done so was made by Tammany leaders. A hurry call was sent out late today for another meeting of the executive committee of Tammany, which was to be held behind closed doors at the Wigwam tonight. William Allen, chairman of the committee, said the election of another leader would result in a few days.

Unit Rule Loses After Fight at Convention; Ford Read Out of Party

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE)
FLINT (Mich.) May 15.—A clash over whether delegates to the Democratic National Convention should vote as a unit precipitated an uproarous tumult at the State Democratic convention here today, which ended only in a motion to adjourn, adopted by the delegates.

In addition to sending an uninvited delegation to the national convention, the Democrats virtually read Henry Ford out of the party. Senator Ferris, who addressed the convention this afternoon, attacked the automobile manufacturer's bid for Muscle Shoals as "an attempt to sell out the people."

PEST'S END IS NEAR

Foot-and-Mouth Disease Wins War Wins

Secretary of Agriculture Declares Situation is Well in Hand

Absolutely No Danger to Tourists; Conventions May Be Held

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)
WASHINGTON, May 15.—Secretary of Agriculture Wallace is sanguine that the end of the foot-and-mouth disease in California is in sight. The Secretary has been giving personal attention to the California problem and today made this statement:

"With the continued co-operation of the officials and citizens of California there is every reason to believe that the foot-and-mouth disease will soon be stamped out. The quarantine and eradication work is well in hand and by constant vigilance we hope to hold the disease within the present area and check its spread there. Both Californians and residents of other States may be assured that the quarantine regulations of the Department of Agriculture are based on long experience and full knowledge of scientific work at home and abroad, and are considered adequate to control the disease and afford full measure of protection to other States. We are conscious of our great responsibility, and shall leave nothing undone to measure up to it. Every citizen will recognize his own responsibility to assist in observing and enforcing quarantine requirements, we shall win the victory before long."

Experience in completely suppressing previous outbreaks of foot-and-mouth disease in the United States, modern veterinary knowledge of the disease and the application of business-like methods—this is the platform on which the United States Department of Agriculture, co-operating with California, is proceeding in its methods for eradication.

"In almost every emergency of public character," Dr. John R. Mohler, chief of the Bureau of Animal Industry, United States Department of Agriculture, stated in discussing the situation, "there are scores of people who in their zeal to assist, propose untried measures and who, through public opinion, cause unrest. The outbreak of foot-and-mouth disease in California, though serious, has been by no means so great a menace as the last one, which occurred in 1914 and which, though at one time present in twenty-two States, was brought under control and entirely stamped out. In dealing with a scourge so infectious as the foot-and-mouth disease, however, we must expect flare-backs and other difficulties in its control."

SITUATION IN HAND
During the last month there have been only a few infected herds on hand at any one time, and the force of trained inspectors is adequate for the prompt slaughter and burial of these herds. The entire area is being watched and there is ample equipment for slaughter and disposal of infected animals. The work of disinfection, in addition, business-like methods of application, and the necessary quarantine and regulation of quarantine are being used.

The situation, according to Dr. Mohler, does not justify some of the extreme and unnecessary measures which have been imposed, most of which are now being abandoned. For instance, conventions of a nonagricultural nature held in the larger cities of California were canceled. So long as delegates to such conventions do not visit infected or exposed farms, there is no danger from such events. The reason for the restriction of why tourists should not visit California, provided they respect quarantine regulations.

The centers of foot-and-mouth infection have been determined and an area around each one has been quarantined to act as a "buffer" territory. These areas cover only a tiny fraction of the State of California.

One of the activities of the Department of Agriculture in its fight on foot-and-mouth disease is that of issuing certificates and placarding cars for the movement of California products which have not been in the infected districts. This procedure is largely for the official assurance of the public, since fruits, vegetables and other similar products do not carry the infection. Quarantine restrictions are of a nature also to amply safeguard animal products, including meat, milk and poultry products.

More than that, the department explains, in none of the previous outbreaks of foot-and-mouth disease has there been any authentic case of a human being contracting the ailment.

FALSE UTTERANCES
In public activities, especially during emergencies, the appearance of "propaganda" and self-appointed advisors may be expected. They seldom fail to appear. This has already occurred in the California situation. For instance, one "authority" whom official inquiry has shown to have no professional standing, has asserted through the press that the disease is not infectious. Simultaneously another "advisor" has distributed and posted warnings against the "grave danger of contracting foot-and-mouth disease by eating California products, especially fruits." Both claims are contrary to scientific facts and to practical experience in combating the plague.

VETERAN ENDS HIS LIFE
PHOENIX, May 15.—John J. Quinn, 41 years of age, a former soldier man, ended his life at his home in this city by shooting. He had been despondent because of ill health.

JAILED IN BAN ISOLATION
POPULAR, May 15.—Joe Soares, a dairy milker of Poplar, spent a night in the Tulare County Jail at Visalia and was later placed in the State Prison at Folsom. He was charged with having tried to evade the quarantine regulations in the infected area. It is alleged that Soares was caught trying to leave an infected ranch.

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE
The department has concluded that the situation is well in hand and that the foot-and-mouth disease in California is being brought under control. The department is confident that the disease will soon be stamped out.

HUNT PLAN REJECTED
Through Gov. Hunt, it was learned here yesterday, application was made to have Federal inspectors placed at several Arizona daughters' houses which, if they favored, might have been to establish business diverted from California. The application was refused.

PRESIDENT VETOES BONUS

Coolidge Declares Enactment of Bill Violates American Ideal and Threatens Disaster

WASHINGTON, May 15.—The soldier bonus bill was vetoed by President Coolidge today on the grounds that it was economically unsound and morally unjust. Returned unpaid to the House where the legislation originated, the measure was immediately taken up by its friends in an effort to override the Executive and only the counsel of leaders obtained postponement of a vote until Saturday.

The President, in his veto message, a document more than 1900 words, declared he could see no justification for enactment of the bill and added:

"Our country cannot afford it. The veterans as a whole do not want it. All our American principles are opposed to it. There is no moral justification for it. The gratitude of the nation to these veterans cannot be expressed in dollars and cents. The President added: 'The respect and honor of their country will rightfully be theirs for evermore. But patriotism can neither be bought nor sold. It is not hire and salary. It is not material, but spiritual. It is one of the finest and highest of human virtues. To attempt to pay money for it is to offer it an unworthy indignity which cheapens, debases and destroys it. We must either abandon the theory of patriotism or abandon this bill.'"

LONDON, May 15.—The official visit of King Ferdinand and Queen Marie of Rumania ended today when King Ferdinand departed in state for Rumania and Queen Marie drove unofficially into the country to visit her sister, Infanta Beatrice of Spain.

The ceremonies connected with the visit ended last night with a state ball at Buckingham Palace—the second since the war and the first ever attended by the Prince of Wales and other young members of the English royal family.

About 2000 guests were present, including the diplomatic corps and almost the entire political and social world of London. A medieval ceremony was carried out fully, with heralds backing into the ballroom before a glittering procession of kings, queens, and princesses in full regalia. Queen Marie wore many of the British royal diamonds—some of the famous Cullinan diamonds—cut from the famous Cullinan diamond.

The opening quadrille provided one of the laughs of the evening when among the eight royalties who danced in it—four of them reigning monarchs—only Queen Marie and the Duke of Connaught knew the figures. For the first time in history a fox trot was danced at a state ball. The Prince of Wales and the Duchess of York starting to the tune of "Mr. Gallagher and Mr. Shean."

ASTOR ON THRONE
Another high light of the evening's entertainment was provided by Lady Astor, who got into an animated conversation with the Queen of Rumania and absent-mindedly sat down on the throne beside her, a glaring procession of kings, queens, and princesses in full regalia. Queen Marie wore many of the British royal diamonds—some of the famous Cullinan diamonds—cut from the famous Cullinan diamond.

By and influence has been tremendously increased by the state visit, it is believed, and her conversations with various Socialist ministers may be continued during her unofficial stay. She talked at half an hour with Mr. J. H. Thomas, Socialist Secretary of Colonies, last night, as well as with Prime Minister MacDonald.

Federal Government Seeks to Have Modified Stringent Quarantine Against California

Department of Justice agents are in Arizona today investigating the obstructive attitude of Gov. Hunt toward the Federal government's efforts to unify foot-and-mouth disease control and the various embargoes on interstate commerce which have been applied to shipments from territory under suspicion as well as to districts known to be infected.

They will report to the Attorney-General of the United States direct and may receive in return instructions to seek an injunction in the United States District Court of Arizona restraining Gov. Hunt from continued enforcement of his border regulation against interstate traffic and travel from California.

The effort of the Federal government from the first has been to clamp down a rigorous quarantine on actual infection, but to interfere as little as possible with the free movement of commodities and persons which could not be carriers. The Territory of Hawaii, for instance, forbade the importation of canned fruits and milk from California, but on representations from the Federal authorities, subsequently modified its regulations.

Score Three Runs in Ninth Inning

Reps Dumovich Off Mound in Fifth

Wallops Homer Into High-Feld Stands

BY ROBERT E. RAY

The Angels dropped another one of their recent string of losses yesterday, this time to the Beavers by a score of 8 to 7. The game was a close one, with the Angels leading 7 to 6 in the ninth inning, but the Beavers scored three runs in the bottom of the ninth to win the game.

Reps Dumovich, who pitched for the Angels, was hit by a home run by Wallops in the fifth inning, which gave the Beavers a 1 to 0 lead. Dumovich pitched a good game, but he was unable to keep the Angels in the lead.

The Angels' offense was stymied by the Beavers' pitching. The Beavers' pitcher, who was not named, pitched a strong game, allowing only one run in the first seven innings. The Angels' offense was unable to score until the eighth inning, when they scored two runs to tie the game.

In the ninth inning, the Angels were leading 7 to 6, but the Beavers scored three runs in the bottom of the ninth to win the game. The Angels' manager, who was not named, was disappointed in the result.

MINI REALIZES THE MAXIMUM ROAD IS NOT ALL BOULEVARD BUT IT MUST BE TRAVELED REGARDLESS OF MIRE AND DISTRESS IF YOU ARE TO REACH THE TOWN OF HAPPINESS—AND WHEN YOU COME TO THE BUMPS AND HEAVY GOING IF YOU DON'T PULL TOGETHER YOU'LL NEVER REACH THE PLEASANT HIGHWAY OF CONTENTMENT

I DON'T KNOW WHY I LET MRS. HAMMER TALK ME INTO LEAVING THAT MAN—THE MORE I THINK IT OVER THE MORE I REALIZE WHAT A FOOLISH GIRL I WAS—IF ANYTHING SHOULD HAPPEN TO ANDY WHILE I WAS GONE I'D NEVER FORGIVE MYSELF.

WELL, MIN, AS I TOLD YOU, YOUR PLACE IS BY HIS SIDE—I'M SURE HE LOVES YOU AND AFTER THAT HIS LITTLE FAILINGS ARE NOT SO IMPORTANT.

I AM SURE HE LOVES ME AND I AM SURE NOW FOR LEAVING HIM THE WAY I DID—BUT I AM GOING BACK AND TELL HIM IT WAS ALL MY FAULT—I KNOW HE LONGS FOR ME JUST LIKE I LONG FOR HIM.

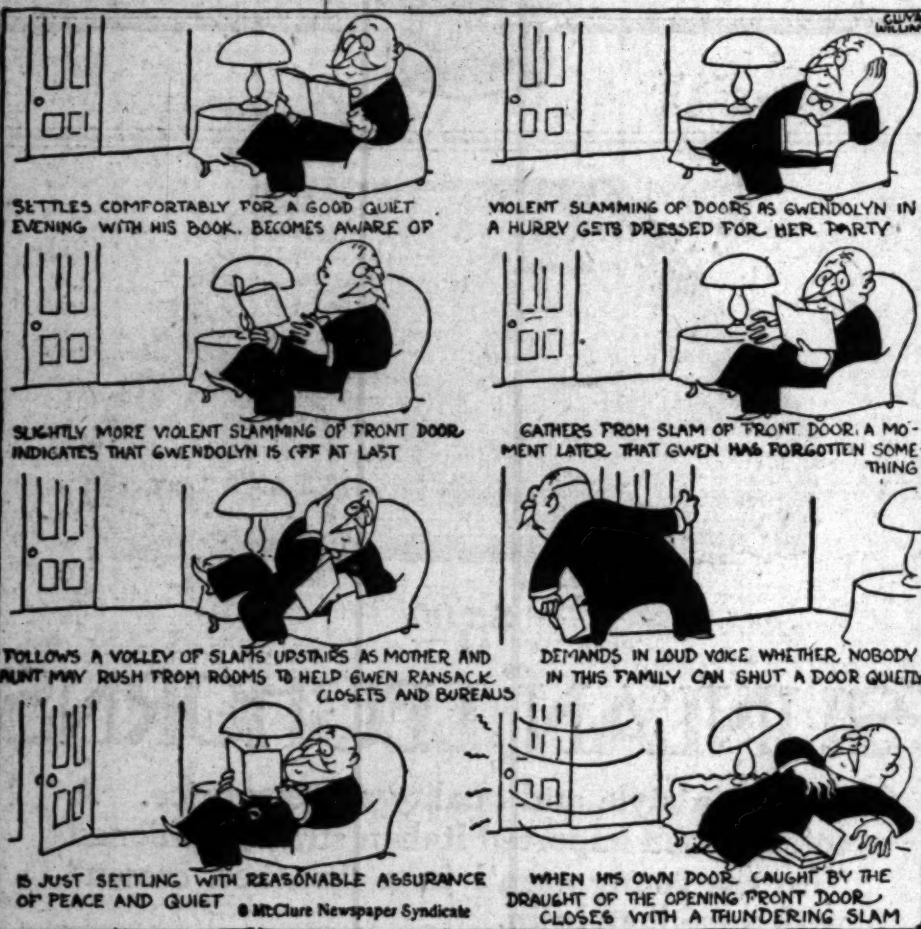

TAKE HIM SOME OF MY FRESH STRAWBERRY PRESERVES WITH MY LOVE—A MAN NEVER GETS MAD AT YOU FOR GIVING HIM GOOD THINGS TO EAT.

I'M JUST GOING TO WIRE ANDY AND LET HIM KNOW I'M COMING HOME ON THE FIRST TRAIN—AND THEN I'LL TRY TO FIND HAPPINESS IN A DIVORCE COURT IS AS FOOLISH AS GOING TO A HARDWARE STORE TO BUY A LOAF OF BREAD.

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)
YUMA (Ariz.), May 15.—Headed by J. O. Munoz, an organization has been formed in Yuma known as "Sons of Hidalgo," with membership of prominent citizens of Mexican birth. Abraham Molina, states that the society will function as a society for Mexicans arrested and charged with crime. According to Mr. Molina, persons of Mexican birth frequently forfeit legal rights because of their lack of knowledge of English or of court procedure.

CONTINUE ANCIENT CUSTOM
(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)
BOWLING GREEN, (Ky.) May 15.—Kilwinning-Cross Lodge of Masons recently observed the ancient Masonic custom of attending church in a body. This custom was established in Kilwinning-Cross Lodge on December 27, 1788. The lodge was in Fort Royal until 1818, or the Civil War, when it was moved to Bowling Green.

BISHOPS' FATE UNDETERMINED
Methodist Delegates Study Tenure Status
Eight-Year Limit May be Waived for Some Democrat is for Republican President, if "Dry"

(BY A. P. MERRY WIRE)
SPRINGFIELD, (Mass.) May 15.—With eight years established by the Methodist Episcopal general conference as a general limit for the bishops' tenure of residence, the delegates were asking each other today what would be the disposition of bishops who have now been eight years or longer at their stations.

The Episcopal committee which is directed in the resolution passed today "to have in mind the principle" of an eight-year maximum. A considerable latitude is implied, and the committee at its next meeting will probably take up the petition already presented for the retention of bishops who may be affected by the ruling.

TO ELECT BISHOPS
At any rate it seems probable that on account of the retirement of four bishops and the death of a fifth since the last general conference, five new bishops must be elected by the conference and it was expected that balloting would start early next week.

The conference did little business today, the greater part of the session being occupied by devotional services. Funeral services were conducted today for Roger Rahn, a delegate from West China, who committed suicide at his hotel last night. Rahn, a teacher at the Methodist High School in Chungking, China, had been suffering from insomnia, depression, and stomach trouble induced by seasickness on his voyage here.

FOR "DRY" PRESIDENT
Bishop James Cannon of the Methodist Church South, addressed the delegates today. Declaring himself a loyal Democrat, Bishop Cannon said he would break away from that party if its leaders insisted on a "wet" platform.

"If the Republican party," he continued, "should name a man for President, who was square for law enforcement, I think I can rely on my friends in the South in declaring for prohibition enforcement and breaking down party lines."

ACCUSATION ON ZIHLMAN NOT PROVED
House Committee Reports on Bribe Charge; Langley Case Not Acted On

(BY A. P. MERRY WIRE)
WASHINGTON, May 15.—Truth of the charge that Representative Zihlman, Republican, Maryland, accepted a bribe was not established by evidence presented to the House investigating committee, the House today was informed.

All five members of the committee concurred in a report which said that "no further action is required or should be taken by the House" with regard to Mr. Zihlman.

The evidence is conflicting and sharply contradictory," said the report, "and the question of the credibility of individual witnesses has frequently arisen."

The report touched also on the charges against Representative Langley, Republican, Kentucky, who is under a two-year prison sentence as a result of his conviction for alleged violation of the prohibition law.

The committee said no further action on its part for the present, at least, was advisable in view of Mr. Langley's announced intention of appealing his conviction from the Capital until his appeal has been passed upon by the higher courts.

The purpose of the committee inquiry was to determine whether either Zihlman or Langley, mentioned several months ago in the report of a Federal grand jury at Chicago, had been guilty of wrongdoing warranting forfeiture of their seats in the House.

Former Private Detective Here Guilty of Theft
(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)
PHOENIX, May 15.—William Appel, former prohibition officer, said at one time to have been a private detective in Los Angeles, has been found guilty by a Superior Court jury of a charge of robbing a Chinese merchant of $60. At the trial the defendant admitted that he had been convicted of a felony before. The money was said to have been taken during a narcotic raid on the Chinese store.

Appel had been an especially active officer of the State prohibition officers' force, and assertion was made at the time of his arrest that he was being persecuted by bootleggers. Notice of Appeal has been given and Appel is at liberty under $2500 bonds.

MAN SNIPS CURLS OFF HEAD OF SCHOOL GIRL
By a "Times" Staff Correspondent
LONG BEACH, May 15.—Police tonight are seeking a man who cut several golden curls from the head of Mildred Mayfield, 11 years of age, 227 Golden avenue, as she was on her way home from school. As she was passing a warehouse, she said, a large man wearing a straw hat drew her to him and snipped her hair on the left side of her head. She broke away, screamed and ran. Detective Sergeant Hanners and McDonald are seeking the culprit.

Angus Gets Thirty Days and He's Also Deprived of the Cent

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)
CHICAGO, May 15.—Angus McCaughy, whose nationality is broadly suggested by his name, landed in jail today on a disorderly conduct charge. Policeman Thomas McCarthy, who arrested Angus, told the judge that the prisoner had smashed a stamp slot machine in a loop drug store because only the usual two 3-cent stamps were forthcoming when he inserted a purchase telephone slug which he had been unable to use on the telephone.

After Angus had found himself in possession of the useless slug, he told the judge in the South Clark street police station he went across the street to the drug store.

"I was well aware that I must take my loss," he said, "if I could not telephone it was quite obvious that I must try some other foolishness. And I did. Your Honor, I walked into the apothecary shop and saw a slot machine with stamps in it. So I dropped the slug in the machine. I admit breaking the glass in the machine, but Your Honor, you will bear with me, for all I got out was two 3-cent stamps. I was cheated out of a cent."

"I can hardly believe the world is so dishonest," sighed the judge, and he assigned Mr. McCaughy to a place where he will remain for thirty days.

BOASTS OF REBELS ARE SCOFFED AT Mexico City Repudiates Tucson Bulletin Saying 56,000 Force Left

(BY JACK STARR HUNT)
(BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)
MEXICO CITY, May 15.—Adolfo de la Huerta evidently has no corrective agent at Tucson, judging by a bulletin issued from "revolutionary headquarters" there, received here in a sealed envelope by newspapers. It is considered a joke.

The bulletin asserts 56,000 rebels, rank and file, are still in the field, and 115 generals. These rebels, it is asserted, are operating in the States of Coahuila, Vera Cruz, Puebla, Tabasco, Campeche, Chiapas, Tamaulipas, Coahuila, Durango, Chihuahua, San Luis Potosi and Hidalgo. The document also is sufficient to brand the document as ridiculous.

It also says that Gen. Guadalupe Sanchez, former commander at Vera Cruz, has 1500 men, while in truth he is hiding in the hills with a mere handful of supporters, possibly thirty. Federalists are searching for him and his capture is expected every day.

"Passion" Tour No Success as Money Getter
(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)
NEW YORK, May 15.—Three leading players of the Oberammergau Passion Play called on the Albert Einstein today for their little mountain village. Despite the fact that their American tour made $200,000, expenses were so high they had to travel second-class.

With Anton Lang, the gentle Christ, and his wife were gray-haired Peter (Andreas Lang) and red-headed Judah (Guido Mayr.) Another returning player was Ferdinand Hochmeister.

The American tour was to provide funds to carry on the Passion Play at Oberammergau. But the expenses of carrying thirty-seven persons through ten great cities and other overland travel was so great that it swallowed up the funds.

TO TAKE POSTMASTERSHIP
(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)
PHOENIX, May 15.—James A. Jones is expected to assume the office of postmaster of Phoenix on June 1. He is a personal appointee of Senator Cameron, and stood at the head of the Civil Service list of applicants. He succeeds E. J. SAVE BANK FROM RUIN
(BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)
VIENNA, May 15.—In order to prevent the collapse of the important Depositen Bank, five leading banks have acquired shares in its capital. The action was necessitated by the fact that the Depositen Bank although not one of the largest Vienna institutions, has many important industrial enterprises and about fifty affiliations, and its fall would have dragged numbers of small firms to ruin.

"Coffee gives comfort and inspiration"

"It may be stated that, after weighing the evidence, a dispassionate evaluation of the data so comprehensively surveyed has led to no alarming conclusions that Coffee is an injurious beverage for the great majority of adults, but, on the contrary, that the history of human experience, as well as the results of scientific experimentation, point to the fact that Coffee is a beverage which, properly prepared and rightly used, gives comfort and inspiration, augments mental and physical activity and may be regarded as the servant rather than the destroyer of civilization."

This strong indorsement of Coffee was made by Professor Samuel C. Prescott, Director of the Department of Biology and Public Health of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

This statement was not made on the spur of the moment, but was one of the conclusions reached by Professor Prescott after the most thorough investigation of Coffee ever made. For more than three years he worked and experimented in his laboratory. His research was scientific and exhaustive and his findings, therefore, establish the fact that Coffee is a safe and desirable drink for the great majority of adults.

For Better Coffee Every Day, Follow These Rules

- 1—See that the Coffee is not ground too coarse.
- 2—Allow at least a tablespoonful of ground Coffee to a cup of water.
- 3—Be sure the water boils. Then pour it over the freshly-ground Coffee.
- 4—Stir the coffee.
- 5—Never use ground Coffee a second time.
- 6—Scour the Coffee pot.

Ask your dealer or write direct to us for a copy of the NEW booklet, "For Better Coffee," which explains these rules in detail. Joint Coffee Trade Publicity Committee, 64 Water Street, New York.

The planters of Sao Paulo, Brazil, who produce more than half of all the Coffee used in the United States, are conducting this educational work in cooperation with the leading Coffee merchants of the United States.

MEXICO'S OIL EXPORTS LOW
One-third Decrease Shown by January Figures
Union Troubles Threaten Further Loss in Taxes
Sugar Production May Fall Below Expectations

BY JACK STARR-HUNT
(BY CABLE-EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)
MEXICO CITY, May 15.—The export of petroleum and its derivatives from Mexico during January shows a notable decrease as compared with the corresponding month of 1923. This is especially so with regard to crude gasoline, which in January 1923 amounted to 53,406 cubic meters, while in January last the total was only 19,006, the value of the petroleum exports dropping nearly 5,000,000 pesos on this one class of oil.

From official statistics recently issued by the Mexican Ministry of Finance, it is learned that the export of petroleum and all derivatives in January 1923 amounted to 1,893,483 cubic meters, with an official value of 29,217,249.50 pesos; while the totals for January last amount only to 1,544,139 cubic meters, and official value 24,674,118.17.

February and March figures are not expected to make any better comparative showing, while the April output is likely to be nothing less than disastrous, due mainly to the union labor troubles between the Agulla Oil Company and its workmen.

REVENUES BOTHER
As the Mexican government's receipts from petroleum taxation are largely earmarked for foreign obligations, the Obregon administration may well find itself further embarrassed financially before the time arrives for the to hand over the reins of power to a new government after the Presidential elections in July.

The Mexican Ministry of Finance has also issued statistics on the number of vessels which took petroleum from Mexican ports during the year 1923, from which it is seen that the total quantity of oil taken away in ships of all nationalities reached 20,463,990 cubic meters in 2713 bottoms. Of the latter 1788 were United States flag, 579 were British, and 346 were of other nationalities.

A month or so ago reliable estimates regarding the Mexican sugar crop for the present season showed a probable production of 170,000 tons. Recent figures, however, confirm the fear that there will be a considerable reduction in these figures, possibly 30 per cent.

So far, this season, about 16,000 tons have been exported, and 5000 tons are ready for export. It is estimated that a total of 30,000 tons will finally be exported to European ports. In this case 110,000 tons would represent the country's available supply. The price of from 28 to 30 Mexican cents per kilo in carload lots has not been subject to variations during the last month.

The final figures for last season reveal a total of 140,000 tons, of which about 12,000 tons were exported, while prices varied between 21 and 42 cents per kilo.

CHICK-PEAS HELD
President Obregon has issued a decree prohibiting the export of chick-peas until October 10. Mexico's usual crop of this commodity runs to about 500,000 bags, each of 220 pounds. The crop is harvested mainly during the months of May and June. The export crop for which there is a big demand in Spain, Cuba, Portugal and Italy, is usually shipped to market by way of New Orleans, Galveston or New York to Cuba and Spain. This year, however, a number of heavy shipments will be made by water from the port of Guaymas direct to Europe.

Regarding the movement of bullion between the United States and Mexico, the following are official figures for the month of March, 1924: Imports from Mexico, gold, $487,371; silver, $390,217.00; exports to Mexico, gold, $410,475.00; silver, $130,175.00.

Resolution on Lincoln Relics Purchase Aided
(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)
WASHINGTON, May 15.—By Monday the curtain may fall on a happy ending to a drama of single-hearted devotion by a private citizen.

In the House of Representatives the resolution of Congressman Rathbone, Republican, Illinois, for the purchase of the Oldroyd Lincoln collection for $50,000 had been placed on the unanimous consent calendar, which comes up Monday.

Thus years of hope deferred may reach hope fulfilled for C. L. Oldroyd, who has been collecting the Lincoln relics for sixty-four years and who has more than once refused for them the $50,000, which the Rathbone resolution provides. He has done this because he wishes the collection to be the nation's possession.

HOW THE STORY OPENED

ELISE DUCHAMIER is a beautiful and beautiful young girl of gentle birth, who, by misfortune, has sunk to be a dresser in a small Montmartre theater. Elise has the care of a bedridden sister, who is attended by an elderly doctor, named Lapiere, who loves Elise. The young girl is devoted to the Parisian star.

LOLETTE, a gorgeous creature of flaming passions, glaring appearance, and equally glaring morals. Elise's natural modesty and beauty are a thorn in Lolette's jealous side, and the star desires the downfall of her little dresser. Lolette's manager and protector is

MAURICE BRUNEL, the greatest pressure, while another follower of Lolette's is certain Count Mordac. To this latter Lolette confides the fact that she is determined to ruin Elise. Elise meets a young American named

TOM KENDRICK, whom she at once recognizes as a man of different stamp from the hangers-on of the theater. Kendrick asks Elise to accompany him to a great ball in Paris, and the girl accepts. At this ball, in pursuance of her plan, Lolette induces Elise to dance with her so that the little dresser attracts the attention of the famous Brunel—the man through whom Lolette's beautiful girls have passed. Brunel offers to make Elise a star—on her own terms, and the pure, young girl indignantly rejects. One day Elise faints dead away in her room. Dr. Lapiere, who is summoned to the room, tells the girl that she has only a short time to live.

The doctor asks Elise to marry him, but she refuses; she has come to a decision. Since she has only a year to live, she writes him to the full. Brunel promises to make her a star springs to her mind, and she agrees to dance for him, signing contracts to do so. Brunel tries vainly to dissuade her from doing so, but Elise comes out as a dancer, and scores an immense hit under the name of La Phalene.

Chapter 23
BEWILDERMENT

There is an intoxication in fame—especially fame achieved overnight. Brunel had more potent than that of any wine. Elise, within twenty-four hours, found herself great. As to the discovery nearly lost herself.

It was stupendous. She had never before realized exactly what her own position, and the manner following her triumph she was besieged with visitors, reporters, charity hunters, and the merely curious, with, and among them all, a great sprinkling of male admirers. She saw some of the reporters and one other. He was Brunel.

It is possible that at this juncture Brunel began to see what Lolette had already perceived, namely, that Elise might become too big for him, and that she was beyond the sphere of his influence. Just as Lolette had planned to ruin her by making of her a star, so Brunel had planned to gather for himself by allowing her to taste the first fruits of success and then by threatening to ruin her, if she did not comply with his wishes.

Now things were different. La Phalene seemed likely to lift her own position, and her influence. She might become so wonderful that she could command contracts at her own price and at her own terms. Brunel, who would be a possession of the public, of the world and out of the hands of any theatrical producer.

It is possible that Brunel conceived it possible that Elise's innate simplicity would blind her to it, and that she would see in him the one person who had made her and upon whom her continued success depended.

In this he was largely right. Brunel was heavily alone, and the last of the reporters had left them, he said: "Well, what do you think of yourself now, little one?"

Elise was heavily flushed and her eyes were aghast. Her excitement was visible in her every gesture and movement. The glimmer of it all was heavy upon her, and she was threatening to break under the load of her own success.

"It is wonderful," she said.

"It is wonderful," he said.

He turned towards him filled her. He had, during all the work preceding the premiere, been so kind, so sure in his criticism and judgment, so sustaining in his advice, that she forgot that first interview she had with him, and credited him with the best of intentions. "And it is all due to you. Had you not helped me as you did I should never have done it."

Brunel was now so fully aware of her character to plunge in hastily. He smiled deprecatingly.

"I worked as much for myself as for you. My success was bound up in yours. And after all, the work is your own. It is you who have made it. I have only stood by and let you make the way smooth for you from the abundance of my experience."

She would not have that. She indicated that it was due to Brunel. Brunel was pleased to accept her reiteration. He wanted her to think that he had done it. He wanted her to labor under the delusion that she was his to make or break with a word.

"Now," he said. "Whoever may have been responsible, the fact remains that she has arrived. She is a person of distinction with a certain social responsibility devolving upon her. This little she has here, she must be housed in the most famous woman in Paris. I have rented an apartment for you behind the St. Honoré, overlooking the Champs Elysees, quite close to my own house."

She looked a little hesitant at this, as the question of the apartment was a delicate one. She was smoothly, explained away her doubts with his next few words.

"I have taken the liberty of using your name in arranging the lease, acting, in fact, as your agent, and it requires your signature and your deposit to clinch the deal."

She was obliged to accept. She had not wanted Brunel to find her a home in his own name; but that he should act as her agent, that he should be on board, with her name figuring and her money meeting the bill—then it became such a kindness, a little courteous forethought, which she appreciated immensely.

Brunel, "is empty, I could have rented it furnished, but I presumed you would rather furnish it yourself. That is for you to decide."

Elise was silent. She said, "I should rather like to see it."

My car is at the door. Let us run."

They went together in Brunel's big Delage. The apartment was beautiful, a wonderful suite of rooms decorated in the fashion Louis Quinze, overlooking the cool leafiness of the Elysees, shadowed, dignified, wanting only a sure hand in furnishing to make them a home of dreams.

Elise was pleased. Now that she had definitely plunged into this new life she was determined to live it to the full.

As they left Brunel said: "There is one thing more, tonight—and I take no denial—and we go together after the show to celebrate the glorious victory. You will leave all the arrangements to me, for it is to be my night, my tribute to your success."

She was too bewildered and shaken to think about it. It was all so wonderful, so incredible, so glorious. Elise assented without thought.

Brunel smiled. He had to act swiftly, and before she realized her potentialities, and this, he thought, was his chance. There would be the intoxication of a second night of triumph, the supper, the lights, the wines—

Things went well.

Chapter 24
PORTENTS

The metamorphosis of Elise was necessarily swift. It took but a little while to transform the shy, beautiful little girl of the past into Jacques into that strange exotic creature who, as La Phalene, at once electrified, mystified and attracted all Paris. Certainly circumstances were favorable to the rapid change. There was the shortness of her life, the sudden transition from poverty to wealth, the volume of flattery which, from the first, was heaped on her head, and—last and most potent of all—the present play of Kendrick's defection and the attitude of those men who gathered about her.

Further—she was playing for high stakes. She wanted all the money she could get; for within a year she would be gone, and that wealth which she managed to obtain during the year would be all Marthe would have to live on. So she was determined to play and play it well, in order to win through.

On the second night of her showing, the great room at the Joyeuse was besieged by admirers, all of whom, however, were rigidly excluded by Brunel, under the excuse that La Phalene had yet not prepared to receive anybody, as she was comparatively new to the theater, and found her performance a great surprise.

However, they left their cards, with flowers and chocolates and pressed flowers, and Elise herself the possessor of some two score pieces of pasteboard, each of them bearing famous names.

Elise's triumph was a triumph than ever. Its initial success had given her a great confidence, and she was determined to keep the audience with something like greatness but actually looked forward to the moments when, from the stage, she would be able to reach out and thrill it, grip it, and hold it until she dared to release it.

On the third night, the appearance of the actress was overwhelming. Agitated she was forced to make a speech. Brunel declared that her reception was unprecedented, and that she had the experience, and he watched her carefully while he said it to see all yet realized exactly what it all meant. She appeared to be the did not. She thanked him, emphasizing that it was all due to him, and that she was dependent upon his good offices as she had been before the premiere.

While she was resting in her dressing room, she received a card which was brought up to her. It was that of the Count Mordac. On it was written: "But five minutes—if you will favor me."

Stirred by an unaccountable impulsion, she decided to go, and, despite the edict of Brunel, she went. Perhaps, just a little evidence of a pardonable vanity that she should be invited to the house of a man who had known her when she was at the feet of Lolette.

He came in smiling, grave, at her case, and he bent low over her hand she extended to him.

"An old, worshiper at a new star, I am, but I am not so old as I might seem. It is my impertinent may I offer my heartiest congratulations and tender my good wishes?"

Elise, before, in Mordac's attitude, despite his smooth politeness, there had always been a certain hint of condescension, probably unintentional, but now there was an acknowledgment of at least equality, and perhaps of admiration. He was fitted for indicating the subtler shades of thought and emotion, and Elise would have been less likely to become a famous actress, and to the full the compliment of the change in him.

She drew him to her in kind. "Doux monsieur, then, forget each shrine at which he bends his knee on discovering the next?"

He smiled, and there was only one, mademoiselle—always. It was the one at which one worships."

He had called with an object. He had come to see her, and he had seen her, and he could not conceive of this girl sacrificing herself on the altar of success without some good reason. He was determined to know, and he ordered that she was gambling against Brunel, that she might sink to become a famous actress without paying the penalty. Brunel extracted from all those beautiful women who passed through his hands to great success or dreadful failure.

Yet, despite this resolve, she was ignorant of the world as Mordac knew it, and he considered Brunel might be too strong for her unless she received advice—indicating to her the way to give on the strength of her position.

Mordac would never have been so much surprised to find her in the realms of commerce had he not been able to sum up a situation with a certain uncanny prescience which almost amounted to clairvoyance.

This situation of Elise, he had gauged to his narrowest limits. Elise, he felt, was still dependent on Brunel. As yet, she did not realize that, with her terrific success, it was not her feet; that not only was it unnecessary for her to seek engagements, but that

BANK OF ITALY IN LONG BEACH

Announce Consolidation of Big Shore Institution

Mining Companies to Open Offices in Los Angeles

Automobile Sales Decline; Shell Union Income

Consolidation of the Long Beach National Bank and its two agencies with the Bank of Italy through an exchange of shares was announced yesterday by A. P. Giannini, head of the Bank of Italy system. Mr. Meeker, president of the Long Beach National, becomes a vice-president of the Bank of Italy in charge of the Long Beach branch, and chairman of the board at Los Angeles headquarters. He succeeds to the latter position through the recent death of W. A. Bonney, Sr.

The Long Beach National has total resources of about $7,000,000, and has attained the position of a "Honor Roll" bank, having surplus earned equal to its capital stock. John S. Dutton, assistant vice-president, and Julian R. Davis, manager, will continue in these capacities.

The Bank of Italy already has two branches in Long Beach, one in the Long Beach National Building, which will now function under the direction of Vice-President Meeker.

Mr. Meeker began his banking career in Southern California with the organization of the First National Bank of Garden Grove. He acquired the First National Bank of El Monte and the First National Bank of Pueno by purchase, and about three years ago the Exchange National Bank of Long Beach, changing the name to the Long Beach National. He is also president of the First National Bank of Riverside.

That two important copper-mining companies, one operating in Arizona and one in New Mexico, are contemplating the opening of offices in Los Angeles as the logical financial and supply center for mining operations in the Southwest is the announcement made yesterday by E. Davis, a well-known mining engineer.

"It would not be policy at this time to reveal the names of these companies," said Mr. Davis, "but they mean business, and their location here will mean the gathering of money through local banks and business houses annually."

"It is not that there will be an overproduction of copper are groundless. In fact, the men at the head of the copper industry are more interested in preventing a run away market than in boosting the price. New uses for copper are being found every day; the building trades are taking an unprecedented amount; automobile construction steadily requires a larger volume; the radio has made a new use of copper; the electrical age is but begun. The future of the metal is bright with that of the electrical and mechanical industries. While there may be periods of hysteria, I believe prices will move slowly upward, and that the average range for years will be between 15 cents and 20 cents per pound of refined copper."

AUTOMOTIVE SALES
Sales for passenger automobiles in Southern California for the month of April, according to statistics compiled by the Automobile Publishing Company, totaled 8156 cars, or a decrease of 30 per cent from the same month of last year. Sales since the first of the year to the end of April amounted to 35,424.

Motor trucks sold in April totaled 1014, a decrease of 10 per cent from the same month of last year. Sales since the first of the year to the end of April amounted to 4151 trucks.

SHELL UNION INCOME
Earnings of the Shell Union Oil Corporation and subsidiaries for the quarter ended March 31, according to telegraphic advices yesterday from the company in New York, were $1,025,000 before providing for 1934 income taxes, which compares with $1,018,143 a year ago. Gross income totaled $1,059,931 compared with $6,736,591 in the corresponding quarter of 1933.

HIGHER DIVIDEND
Directors of the Cheesbrough Manufacturing Company, Consolidated, have voted, according to advices received yesterday by Black & Co., Inc., to pay a quarterly dividend of 6 1/4 cents on the new $25 par value common stock and the regular dividend of 1 1/4 per cent on the preferred. The common stock payment represents an increase of 1 1/2 cents. Both dividends are payable June 30 to stock of record June 7.

The Cheesbrough Manufacturing Company, Consolidated, markets its products under the trade name of Vaseline, and is a former Standard Oil subsidiary.

PERSONAL MENTION
First Securities Company announced that J. W. Drake, who is the son of the late Mr. J. C. Drake, former president of the Los Angeles Trust and Savings Bank, now the Pacific-Southwest Trust and Savings Bank, is now associated with the sales department at the main office. Mr. Drake has been active in the buying department of the First Securities Company for the past eight months and is well known in local financial circles.

WOOL MARKET
(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE)
BOSTON, May 15.—Wool is being available for the manufacture of woolens in fairly good quantities. New comings are in the market monthly at low prices. Both new and old comings are being sold in the market at low prices. The market is generally quiet, but there is a tendency to a slight recovery in some values recently at 1250 per pound.

High Quality without Excessive Price

Though highest quality necessarily costs more than do ordinary grades, our prices are not as excessive as our exclusive reputation would suggest.

Levy tailored clothes not only wear longer, but they retain their superb fit, and look better while doing so.

Two new wells were completed in the Torrance field yesterday, the total production of the pair being reported at 1400 barrels.

The Petroleum Securities Company brought in its Marble No. 21, from a depth of 3750 feet, with an initial flow of 1900 barrels. Marble No. 21 is one of the middle wells on the Marble tract, being located about the center of the Torrance field.

The Sentinel Oil Company put its Joughin No. 7 on production at a depth of 3322 feet, getting 400 barrels per day. The Joughin lease is in the eastern section of the Torrance field.

Sand Peters Out
The General Petroleum Corporation's White No. 1 well in the northern area of the Dominguez field is coming about at 4935 feet, according to field reports, which say that no showings have been found at this depth.

The White picked up the sand at about 4850 feet, but was unable to get a water shut-off. According to drillers, prospects for the White look bad.

The General Petroleum's No. 1 is standing cemented at about 5500 feet, and probably will drill out during the latter part of the week, it is said.

Central Drilling
The Central Oil Company is drilling its No. 73 well in the Whittier district, and has reached a depth of about 1550 feet, according to officials of the company. Location is being made for No. 74 which will be started when No. 73 is completed. Showings are reported as good.

The Central plans to complete these wells in the shallow sands at about 2200 feet and will not make any attempt to go to the deep sand discovered by James O'Donnell in the Whittier No. 8. The two present projects are in proven territory, and while officials believe the deep sand underlies the Central holdings, it will not be tested until other companies have made further developments.

Drilling conditions in the Whittier field are different from those in other fields, and considerably more equipment is needed to go to the greater depths. A deep-drilling campaign will be inaugurated later on, Central officials assert.

Testing Reyes 2
A combined water and production test is being made on the Shell Company's Reyes No. 3 in the Dominguez field, and officials expect to get a definite answer to the question today. The well was swabbed yesterday, and flowed mud and water with some oil, and it was considered likely that a shut-off had been obtained.

The Shell is still trying to set a new string of casing in the Childs No. 1 in the eastern section of the field. The first string was badly battered after running a fishing job, and some difficulty is being met with in extracting it.

In Bad Shape
The Southwestern Petroleum Corporation's wildcat well in the Buena Vista field three miles northeast of Taft is in serious trouble, the company is reported to have said the second time, according to officials of the company. Another attempt is being made to wedge it out, and if this job fails, the well may be shut down for a time, it is said.

The whole history of this well has been checked with trouble, over 6200 feet of pipe being drilled to get a total depth of 4860 feet in spite of these obstacles a good sand was found, and the well brought to the very point of completion, spouting over the derrick several times, when the casing collapsed, and spoiled the hole.

Have Withdrawn
According to an announcement made yesterday by J. Russell Morton of Pasadena, E. A. Charlton and Harold A. Lafont have withdrawn from the organization which is handling the Top Notch Syndicate. It is reported that the Top Notch plans to resume drilling in the Los Angeles Basin shortly.

LOS ANGELES AND SALT LAKE RAILROAD REDUCES DEFICIT ALMOST A MILLION IN 1923

Operations of the Los Angeles and Salt Lake Railroad, now a part of the Union Pacific system, during 1923 were sufficiently profitable to enable the company to reduce its accumulated deficit $978,750.51, according to the annual report of the company to the State Railroad Commission made public yesterday.

The company's report shows that a deficit of $1,947,500.12 at the beginning of the year was reduced to $471,851.61 during the twelve-month period.

Operating revenue of the railroad amounted to $24,339,540.74 and the operating expenses totaled $18,852,948.61, leaving a net operating revenue for the year of $5,486,592.13.

NEW ADMIRAL TAKES HELM

Guns Boom, Flags Flutter, Gold Braid Glistens, as Chase Hands Fleet Command to Marvel

Rear-Admiral Marvel

Guns boomed, gold braid and awards glistened and flags rose and fell aboard the U.S.S. Procyon in the harbor yesterday, the occasion being the transfer of command of the fleet base force by Rear-Admiral Jehu V. Chase to his successor, Rear-Admiral George R. Marvel.

The ceremony was conducted upon one of the hatches aboard the supply ship, the admiral reading their orders while surrounded by the ship's officers, the base force staff and the ship's company.

Admiral Marvel's salute of seven-thirteen guns to the fleet base force was followed by the firing of the base force salute.

The orders directed Admiral Marvel to proceed here from Manila to relieve Admiral Chase and to proceed to Washington as a member of the Navy General Board. He will depart the 25th inst. for his new post.

Admiral Marvel arrived yesterday after two years in the Philippines as commander of the Sixth Naval District and of the navy yard at Cavite. He has under his new command twelve vessels on the Pacific Coast, thirteen on the Atlantic and four in Hawaii. There will be no changes in the base force staff at present.

CITY MAY GET SHRINE PARLEY

Committee Favors Meeting Here in June, 1925

Prize to be Worked for at Kansas City

Potentate Cole Tells of Happy Responses

The Imperial Council of the Shrine probably will meet in Los Angeles early in June, next year, according to announcement yesterday by Louis M. Cole, Potentate of Al Malakiah Temple.

The matter has been taken up with the Time and Place Committee, and Cole, and each member has announced himself as being favorable to visiting Los Angeles. A special train will leave with the Golden State Limited the 30th inst. for Kansas City, where this year's Imperial Council is to be held, carrying more than 200 Nobles intent on gaining this prize for Los Angeles.

The probability of the Imperial Council coming to Los Angeles is a result of Denver, Colo., dropping out of the race for the 1925 assemblage. It had been planned to award the Council to Denver, but recently representatives of that city have announced that they will not be able to accommodate the crowd.

When it was first learned that this city had an opportunity of gaining this colorful gathering, Mr. Cole discussed the matter with Los Angeles hotel men. The latter promised they would extend themselves to take care of the immense crowd, estimated at 150,000. Arrangements for the festivities and activities, incident to the gathering of the Imperial Council, will be undertaken immediately. It is definitely decided that the meeting will be in Los Angeles.

Motley H. Flint now is in Kansas City, conferring with high officials of the Shrine and making arrangements incident to the Council's coming to this city.

When we first learned that Denver would not get the Council, said Mr. Cole, "I flooded the East and Middle West with telegrams, proposing Los Angeles. From all sections of the country it met with approval. From the 144 Temples in North America we can fully expect an influx of more than 150,000 visitors."

MONSTER PARADE
"Los Angeles thus will be enabled to view the most remarkable and interesting festival of modern times. We expect 120 Temples to be in the great parade, with their patrols, drill teams, marching drum corps and bands. The smallest organization will have at least twenty-five men, and the larger will run into thousands. Last year, in Washington, it took the parade four hours to pass a given point."

"I have proposed the time of the convention for June 2, 3 and 4, thus giving the visiting Nobles and their families an opportunity to learn what an extraordinary summer resort Los Angeles truly is."

ONE OF FEW CITIES
"It feels sure that Los Angeles is one of the few cities in the country capable of properly caring for the tremendous number of visitors incident to the gathering of the Nobles of the Shrine. There are more than 8000 members of Al Malakiah Temple, and twenty-two Shrine Clubs, the members of which will assist the Temple in the arrangements."

The Los Angeles delegation to Kansas City will include the band of fifty, the patrol of forty-five and twenty-eight chanters.

NEGRESS IS SENTENCED
Frances Daniels, negress, was sentenced to six months in the County Jail yesterday after she pleaded guilty before Judge Hardy to a charge of assault. It was charged that she bit the finger of Anne Michael, a white woman, in a Glendale street car. She originally had been charged with mayhem, but this charge was dismissed. The finger-biting episode followed an argument that started when the negress seated herself beside the white woman. It was said.

The humidity dryer is the first installation of its kind in the West. Mr. Frost said. It is eighty-one feet in length, with four tracks for cars of tile. Engineers for Frost and Schwartz of Philadelphia, manufacturers of the dryer, are on the ground supervising construction. The Union Iron Works of Los Angeles has commenced the construction of two steel industrial buildings.

It is estimated that the entire building program which Mr. Frost says will place the local plant of the Los Angeles Pressed Brick Company in the lead for the world, both in point of production and in efficient operation, will be completed by July 1.

The additions are being erected on a site adjoining the present plant on Date street.

Chief Justice Myers, who will preside at the meeting, and the judges, who will pass on the merits of the orators, also are in the city and they and the oratorical champions will be guests at a luncheon given in their honor at the Alexandria hall-room at noon today.

Tonight's meeting is the concluding one on the Pacific Coast of a long series of eliminations to select an orator among the high school pupils of California, Oregon, Washington, Idaho and Arizona to represent this section at the Grand Finals, the contest will be conducted in Washington on June 1.

It is a splendid start to begin the career of a new theater with a picture that is based on such patriotic principles as is D. W. Griffith's "America," and something there is indeed to the experience of looking at such a picture. The picture is a great one, and it is the theater and the picture will go on; the premiere is something so unique that it is likely to be a landmark in the history of the picture.

EXCITING EVENT
I have been to a dozen theater openings and premieres in the past year, but with the possible exception of one or two right in the downtown district, this was the most exciting as regards events around the theater. Throngs of people literally rushed the doors and crowded around the approaching automobiles in a wild and frantic effort to obtain a glimpse of Norma Talmadge, Corinne Griffith, Pola Negri, Charles Chaplin, or any other of the celebrities who attended the premiere.

It was nothing like the usual crowd that assembles for such an occasion, for there was more excitement, more shouting and exclamations, more eager joy over the sight of some noted star.

UNION DRIVES M'GROARTY OUT

"Mission Play" is Withdrawn in San Francisco

Has to Pay Seventeen to Do Work of Seven

Organized Musicians Make Impossible Demands

Because of impossible demands of the musicians' union of San Francisco John Steven McGroarty's Mission Play will be withdrawn from San Francisco this week and will return to San Gabriel, according to word received here yesterday.

The Mission Play, the Southern California classic which has been played many years at San Gabriel, had been showing to good houses for two weeks at the Columbia Theater, San Francisco, when the demands of the union musicians made its continuation out of the question.

Mr. McGroarty took his company north at the invitation of San Franciscans interested in drama and in the rich California historic period chronicled in the Mission Play, which he had intended to show in the northern city.

SEVENTEEN FOR SEVEN
From the beginning, Mr. McGroarty has had difficulty in meeting the demands of the union musicians without making his production out of the question financially. He went north with an orchestra whose members were familiar with the action of the piece and type of music selected, but the San Francisco musicians' union insisted that the members of their organization be substituted. In this they drew a half-breath distinction, between Mr. McGroarty's play and grand opera companies and certain road shows which are "permitted" by the union to bring their own orchestras. In addition, the union insisted that ten musicians be employed instead of the seven which the producer considered sufficient. This made seventeen musicians whom Mr. McGroarty had to pay to do the work of seven. He declined to do it.

In a statement made public at San Francisco, Mr. McGroarty explained his position as follows: "I brought an orchestra of seven people, which was sufficient for the needs of the play, with me from San Gabriel. On arriving, I was notified by the musicians' union that I would have to take ten of their men and I could produce my play. My men are idle, and the orchestra of ten men costs $1,400 a week."

THE MUSICAL DEMAND
"I was anxious to produce my new play, 'La Golondrina,' after the close of the Mission Play, but it is out of the question for me to meet the union demands, and my company will return to San Gabriel after the end of this week. San Francisco would have liked 'La Golondrina,' for its scenes are laid in this city. It is one of the trilogy of which the Mission Play is the first and 'El Dorado' the third."

Mr. McGroarty some years ago took to his Mission Play as far east as St. Louis. He never before had taken his two California plays to San Francisco. The first two weeks of the Mission Play performance there promised a good season, and the sympathetic interest of San Francisco was a great cause of the common historic background shared by the northern and southern parts of the state.

USHERETTE GETS $50,000 LEGACY

Broad smiles were not uncommon at the Criterion Theater this week, but one smile beamed brighter than all the others yesterday—that adorning the pretty face of Miss Genevieve Waddell, 17 years of age, a little usherette at the theater.

She has just received word from Griffith Jones, local lawyer, that she has been left $50,000 by her uncle, Walter Waddell, late banker of Everett, Wash. She will receive the money on her next birthday, February 18, 1925, and her half-brother, Raymond Waddell, will receive an additional $10,000.

For the time being she will continue to usher people to their seats at the Criterion.

PHYSICIANS ORDER INQUIRY

Doctor to Direct Industrial Practice Quiz; Judge Burks Rebukes Lieut.-Gov. Young

A thorough investigation of the practice of industrial medicine in this state was ordered yesterday by the council of the State Medical Association, which directed Dr. James H. Park, of Sacramento, chairman, to appoint a committee of fifteen to investigate the situation and report its findings and suggestions of remedies to the council for action.

Before the meeting of the council, which practically concluded the medical meetings here, Judge Paul Burks protested against Wednesday's speech of Lieut.-Gov. Young, criticizing the Richardson administration. He called it a political attack and said the Lieut.-Governor has been guilty of uttering half-truths, misstatements and misrepresentations.

The decision to investigate industrial medical practice followed much discussion in the convention when charges were made that the State compensation fund and the Industrial Accident Commission were tolerating the practice of permitting laymen to contract to provide medical and surgical service for injured workmen.

By the terms of the council's plan, five of the committee will be named from Los Angeles, five from San Francisco and five from other portions of the State. The committee will proceed first to communicate with the American Medical Association on the questions of ethics involved, and will recommend to the council what ethical standards the profession should be guided by in industrial practice.

A detailed examination of the methods used in various parts of the State in taking care of injured workmen then will be made. It was asserted on the floor of the convention that the medical and surgical service stations established in some industrial sections were run as cheaply as possible, and that the tendency was to have internes and nurses attempting operations and treatments that only specialists were qualified to administer.

Hartley F. Peart of San Francisco, general counsel of the association, said that the committee's report will be made to regulate adequately the practice of industrial medicine and surgery along ethical lines.

It is expected that the committee will report its findings to the department early next week, and that the department will make up by the end of the year a statement of the conditions in the various industrial sections.

EXPANSION PLANNED IN TILE PLANT

President Says Factory to be Largest in World by $225,000 Additions

Plans for the construction in Los Angeles of the largest tile plant in the world through the immediate expenditure of $225,000 in additional buildings and equipment at the local plant of the Los Angeles Pressed Brick Company were announced yesterday by Howard Frost, president of the firm.

The building program, according to Mr. Frost, will include a $100,000 Harrop tunnel railway with a capacity of fifty tons of burned tile per day; a specially constructed humidity dryer, which will cut the drying time from thirty-six to four hours and more than double the drying capacity of the plant; a $30,000 aerial tramway system for handling the burned tile; and the construction by the Union Iron Works of Los Angeles of two Westype steel buildings to house the various operations of the plant.

The new kiln will reduce the burning time of tile roofing from 240 hours to sixty hours, according to Mr. Frost. In addition, it will effect a saving of 35 per cent on fuel, 25 per cent in labor for loading, and 40 per cent in labor for removing the burned tile from the kiln cars, he said.

The humidity dryer is the first installation of its kind in the West. Mr. Frost said. It is eighty-one feet in length, with four tracks for cars of tile. Engineers for Frost and Schwartz of Philadelphia, manufacturers of the dryer, are on the ground supervising construction. The movement will be started at a general meeting which will be held in the committee rooms of the Chamber of Commerce at noon. A luncheon will be served (Continued on Page 5, Column 4)

With the arrival in Los Angeles yesterday of the last three orators forming part of the group of six who will compete for honors in the Pacific Coast Finals in the National Oratorical Contest at Los Angeles High School auditorium tonight, the concluding details of the program for that event have been completed.

Chief Justice Myers, who will preside at the meeting, and the judges, who will pass on the merits of the orators, also are in the city and they and the oratorical champions will be guests at a luncheon given in their honor at the Alexandria hall-room at noon today.

Tonight's meeting is the concluding one on the Pacific Coast of a long series of eliminations to select an orator among the high school pupils of California, Oregon, Washington, Idaho and Arizona to represent this section at the Grand Finals, the contest will be conducted in Washington on June 1.

It is a splendid start to begin the career of a new theater with a picture that is based on such patriotic principles as is D. W. Griffith's "America," and something there is indeed to the experience of looking at such a picture. The picture is a great one, and it is the theater and the picture will go on; the premiere is something so unique that it is likely to be a landmark in the history of the picture.

UNIVERSITY GIVES PAGEANT
More Than Hundred Co-eds Appear in First Annual Presentation of Spirit of Spring

The Dionysia, the University of Southern California first annual spring pageant, was presented on the lawn in front of the Old College Building yesterday. More than 100 co-eds arrayed in colorful costumes symbolizing spring, participated in the event.

The pageant was presented under auspices of the women's physical education department, which is under direction of Miss Dorothy Doty.

The first part of the pageant was opened with a solo dance by Aurora, interpreted by Miss Nevin Packard. This was followed by the Four Winds dance in which Helen Sherman, Etta Stewart, Selenia Chasenoff and Helen Ingalls appeared as the four winds, Zephyrus, Natus, Eurus and Eurus. Solo dance were given

VETERANS' MERGER IS REJECTED
World War Organization Convention Favorable to Close Federation

Intention of members of the Disabled Veterans of the World War to maintain their district organization regardless of any action toward complete amalgamation that may be taken by other ex-service organizations, was voted unanimously at a session of the fourth annual State convention conducted yesterday in the Disabled Veterans' Hall at 346 South Hill street.

The decision to keep the present organization intact was expressed by the adoption of a committee report which rejected all amalgamation and affiliation proposals but presented suggestions for the formation of a close federation of all ex-service organizations.

No entertainment program has been worked out for the convention and there will be only business sessions until the final meeting Saturday, according to Irvine C. Enger, State president, who presided over yesterday's meeting. State officers for next year will be elected Saturday at the closing session.

Children Will Give Concert for Instruments

A Junior Orchestra concert, numbering 351 little players, will take place this evening at Philharmonic Auditorium. The orchestra is made up from the various orchestras of the elementary schools. Clifford Lott, baritone, will be an assisting artist.

The Junior Orchestra is not a permanent organization. These little people gather and rehearse a few weeks, give a concert or two and disperse. The older ones pass up to the high schools; others will perhaps appear in the new "Junior" and the vacancies will be filled from the ranks of those now working up. Those appearing are only about 10 per cent of those now available, for there are at present orchestras in the 142 elementary schools of Los Angeles, comprising 3400 young players.

The proceeds of this and similar concerts are used for the "Instrument Fund." Most of the players own their own instruments. Nearly all of the schools own some large instruments, such as bells, drums, etc. There are, however, many instruments which parents are unable to purchase for their children, or are willing to buy after their boys and girls have shown a willingness to practice. The orchestra department loans such instruments much on the same plan in which library books are taken out.

ART CAFE TO OPEN
Sculptor's Project is Adjunct to Norse Studio Club

The Latin Quarter Cafe, a new restaurant in connection with the Norse Studio Club, will open its doors Wednesday at 7 p.m. under the direction of Michael Fy, formerly of New York and Canada. The cafe was planned by Finn H. Frolsch, sculptor, who established the Norse Studio Club two years ago as a rendezvous for artists. The art associations of Southern California meet at the club.

The decorations of the new restaurant are by Southern California artists. A special program of music and theatricals will be given the opening night. The cafe is at 4416 Sunset Boulevard, at Cahenga avenue.

thrown on their own resources, are unable to earn enough to pay their expenses, the club looks after them.

The club has been supported entirely by the business and professional women of Los Angeles since its organization. Believing the club is of importance to the well-being of the city and of vital assistance in solving many of the vexing girl problems, the sponsors of the club have now come forward, seeking help from the public at that a permanent home may be bought for the club. Their work is laudable and calls for whole-hearted moral and financial support of the citizens.

LAGGARD FLIGHT
Despite the intricate escape to its credit, the squadron of American airplanes attempting to circumnavigate the globe has not yet reached the point of no return. The flight is expected to be completed in about a month. The flight is expected to be completed in about a month.

Little importance attaches to a world fight when the same distance would be covered by train and steamboat in one-quarter the time. If flying is not to be swifter or more economical than surface transportation, it will add nothing either to the public safety or the public welfare.

Shortly after the American squadron started English and French planes hopped out for a similar fight. There was to be a race about the world. While our squadron has been marooned on the coast of Alaska, a similar fate has apparently met the other flyers in Central Asia. The foreign cables have ceased to report their progress.

The American planes made the attempt Wednesday to fly from the Alaskan coast to Japan. No report has been received when this editorial was written concerning the success or failure of that hazard. But a successful flight will not awaken much enthusiasm; for an ocean liner could have made the voyage to Japan and return since the planes left Los Angeles.

Aviation has lost much of its hazard in this country in the last five years, due to improvement in equipment and to a better understanding of the problems of air travel. But it is apparent that the problem of flying across the great expanse of water has not yet been solved successfully.

An air squadron that circles the globe in three months will serve chiefly to demonstrate that such a method of transportation is impractical. When the planes begin to cut several days from the surface record the public will begin to take notice.

WOMEN IN OFFICE

The head of the League of Women Voters here that it is important that more women should be placed in public office, but she adds that it is imperative that the women chosen should be better qualified than their masculine opponents. "There is a point that the voter will have to decide. When is a lady better fitted for a job than the man? Are we to take the word of the League of Women Voters or canvass the record of the male? We doubled the number of voters when the women were added to the ballot, but was there a doubling in the capacity of public service? The ladies admit that the important thing is competency. If the women agree not to seek office until they are prepared to furnish better service than is furnished by male incumbents they will receive a lot of attention from the silent voters. But if they are to skimp for the jobs after the ancient methods of the male politician the voters will measure skirts against trousers without more than casual interest.

THE WORLD'S WINDOW

Persia, a Vassal State

"Woe to thee, O land, when thy king is a child," said the preacher of antiquity. And to look at the situation in Persia, where the Cabinet has dethroned the pleasure-loving Shah, who is at present in Paris, and has elevated to the royal dignity his baby son, there seems to be a great deal of truth in the old saying. According to dispatches, it is the fine Bolshevik hand from Moscow which has engineered the changes in Persia's Cabinet. The men who administer the affairs of the youthful monarch are but the puppets which jump, dance and act when the strings are pulled in the Kremlin palace on the far-away Moscow.

Napoleon "Sprawled Over All Europe"

Once again the municipal government of Paris is blessing the name of "the little Corsican bandit," one of Napoleon's nicknames. It seems that Bonaparte in his day, for inscrutable reasons of his own, passed a law prohibiting the too glaring illumination of Paris streets. This old law, never repealed, of course, according to custom in democratic countries, has been called in now, when there are protests against the creation of a great white way in the neighborhood of the Opera. During the past few years that vicinity of historic monuments has begun to look like Broadway with its myriads of electric bulbs. This is not to the taste of the Parisians, who like a subdued mellow light, at least near the Opera. And fortunately Bonaparte came to their aid.

"Ni cet Excess d'Honneur, Ni cet Indigence"

Maurice Maeterlinck, famous Belgian writer and philosopher, is in a fine predicament. Upon his return from a trip to Italy he published in Brussels an impression of the city of Palermo in Sicily. The article has aroused the indignation of one Signor Sebastiano Rondi, a native Sicilian, and he has promptly challenged the Belgian to a duel. "Consider your face slapped," he wrote. "What puerile nonsense! Just as if a wound in Maeterlinck's neck would change the article. The thing to do for the hot-headed Sicilian gentlemen is to come to Belgium and write something about Ghent or Bruges or Antwerp and publish it in Palermo. The Belgians will have it translated, because they like to hear what others think of the women and the scented air that is not considered civilized.

RIPPLING RHYMES

SPRING DAYS

The spring is with us once again, the wintertime is over; the folk song of the clucking hen is heard among the clover; the colts are leaping in the glen, pursued by playful Rover. I push my head outside the door to watch these happy friskers, to see the hired man do his chore with barrows, pails and disks; no blizzard awaits me any more, so snow is in my whiskers. The flying clouds convey no threat of bitter cold or sleeting: 'Tis springtime is the one best bet, I hear myself repeating: "I should be gay could I forget the days of carpet beating." The women sniff the scented air that has no fine a meaning; with flowers blooming everywhere, from wall and trellis leaning; "this shack," they say, to my despair, "demands a thorough cleaning." Oh, why can't women close their eyes to cobwebs on the ceiling, when spring arrives with azure skies, new lines of joy revealing? Why must they, mops in hand arise, with their house cleaning spicing? I saw old Winter to his tomb, I watched his form retreating; my heart with triumph was ablaze, to see the old man fleeing; but now I look ahead with gloom, to days of carpet beating. The women looked upon the grass that was so young and tender, they watched the fleecy cloudlets pass in triad and twos, and reached for mops and brooms, alas, their cry to surrender.

THIS IS THE DAY

Clement Laird Valandigham of Ohio, member of Congress, who sympathized with the southern cause during the Civil War, was 500,000 to 5,000,000 years old. Call him 100 years old. At that, it's a bet that he'll fool his first approach.

Speaking of highway poker, we saw a car the other day carrying the license number 1,111,111. This would mean seven aces—if anybody would stand for it.

In the twist the advertisement got it: "Pure women's linen handkerchiefs at 40 cents" and some of the ladies blushed when they asked the salesgirl if they could have a box.

Not to be outdone, Kera county comes along with a fossil whale 500,000 to 5,000,000 years old. California is producing more interesting fossils as well as more everything else.

Husband who bobbed his daughter's hair and tied his wife's clothes in knots because she objected and wife who wouldn't let husband ride on merry-go-round figure in day's news. Yet there is no more who say domestic skeletons should be kept hidden. They want to spell all out fun.

PEN POINTS

No girl is ever insulted by being told that she looks awfully kind.

If all peoples were gifted with a sense of humor there wouldn't be any need for a standing army.

The man who tries to fool the world is surely making some fool of himself.

When the new traffic ordinance is adopted here it contains a few less than 100,000 words.

A guy in an alfalfa hat and gray flannel trousers looks sweet, but he should come in at sundown.

Policeman Alberts $500,000, refuses to leave bed. Wouldn't go back to Philadelphia for twice the money.

Ohio court decides motion pictures are theatrical performances; is that supposed to be a compliment or a slam?

Double-deckers are all the rage. "Three Weeks" is running six weeks in the city. How long will "One Hour" last?

We'll have some kind of a City Council after courts unfangle charter mess, but one is inclined to wonder why sometimes.

Interstate Commerce Commission looks over Plaza site. Good. The more commissioners look it over the more likely they are to approve.

Chauncey Depew says he is not going to waste time on golf until he is 100 years old. At that, it's a bet that he'll fool his first approach.

FLYING CHIPS

BY ALMA WHITMAN

It is very disturbing to come back from an unalloyed week-end at Catalina Island and find my mail so full of trouble.

One lady writes three pages of carping about real estate agents who exaggerate the profit opportunities on lot-buying and keep lone females poor paying on lots that were to have resold for double the price in five minutes or so.

Another friend writes me a volume about the machinations of her enemies in a women's club controversy and demands my immediate support of her side of the issue.

Another letter complains that Almes Semple McPherson's radio is too strong and so monopolizes the air for the weaker sets.

Two letters implore me to rise up in my wrath and say two or three motion pictures—one as being shamefully inaccurate and the other as being highly improper.

At least half a dozen other letters point out my duty to—case I could support or cause I ought to damn or wrong I ought to right—and all I can see today is the merry sunshine and the roses and the vines throwing out long, new shoots, and I don't hurry up and separate the chrysanthemum roots and stake them when we won't have much of a show in October.

For the life of me I cannot get sympathetically indignant on behalf of the lady who is begging me to fight a news photo syndicate for her—even if the wretch did publish the wrong picture of her for Muscle Week the other day. I don't hurry up and separate the chrysanthemum roots and stake them when we won't have much of a show in October.

Of course, I do agree that all the people who own vacant lots and haven't cleaned them up yet ought to be hanged, drawn and quartered, but I don't feel the slightest urge to do the job myself. Most of the killing I am doing these days applies to garden snails, ants, blight on rose bushes and insecticides on gobblers with a taste for gladiolus bulbs.

One notes with interest that the Methodist are lifting some of their "pleasure bass" at the same time that they are admitting women to their pulpits.

Perhaps this means that women preachers are expected to have a stronger influence on the consciences of congregations, making the basins unnecessary. The real influence already proving more reckless?

PILAFF
Heat three tablespoonfuls of butter in a sauce pan, add two pounds of lean lamb cut in half-inch cubes, cook ten minutes or until nicely browned; add one sliced onion and cook five minutes. Wash and dry half a cupful of rice, add to the meat mixture and stir. Add two cups of meat stock, one cupful of strained tomatoes, one teaspoonful of salt, half a teaspoonful of pepper, one teaspoonful of curry powder, three table-

SPONGE CAKE
Beat three eggs with a rotary egg beater until light, add one quarter of a teaspoonful of salt and beat in slowly one cupful sifted sugar; beat until light and fluffy; add one cupful of sifted flour with two teaspoonfuls of baking powder, beat well, add one tablespoonful of water and beat in the grated rind of one orange; beat five minutes. Pour into a buttered and floured tube cake tin and bake in a moderate oven half an hour. Ice with any desired icing.

ONION SOUP
Place in a covered two-quart saucepan half a cupful of butter and four thinly sliced onions, cover and simmer thirty minutes, shake often to keep from browning; stir in two tablespoonfuls of flour, mix well, add three cupfuls of hot water and three cupfuls of hot milk; cover and simmer half an hour; add a seasoning of salt and pepper. Beat the yolks of two eggs with half a cupful of grated Parmesan cheese and spread over slices of toasted French bread placed in the bottom of a soup tureen, pour over the hot soup, cover and let stand five minutes before serving.

BAKED HAM
Place a washed ham in a deep earthenware crock, cover with cold water and two quarts of cider; let stand over night, place in a pot, cover with boiling water, one quart of cider, one onion stuck with two whole cloves, one carrot, one sliced orange, two branches of parsley, one two-inch stick of cinnamon, a blade of mace and six whole pepper corns; bring to a boil, reduce the heat and simmer until tender, about twenty minutes to the pound. Cool in the water, place on a baking pan, carefully remove the skin and press into the fat one cupful of brown sugar mixed with half a cupful of fine bread crumbs; outline the fat with whole cloves, add one cupful of cider to the pan and bake in a moderate oven forty minutes.

A few drops of ammonia in the water with woollens and flannels will make them a good color and keep them soft.

Wiss Scissors Make Dressmaking Easy

Keeping the small folks dressed is no easy job. How they do "go through" their clothes!

Wiss Scissors and Shears will make your home sewing much more easy and enjoyable. They cut evenly, to the extreme points of the blades, without spreading or allowing the cloth to slip between. They stay sharp a long time—and outlast several pair of ordinary scissors.

Stop at the cutlery counter and select the style best suited to your needs. It pays to buy by name, for even an expert finds it difficult to judge the quality of scissors merely by looking at them.

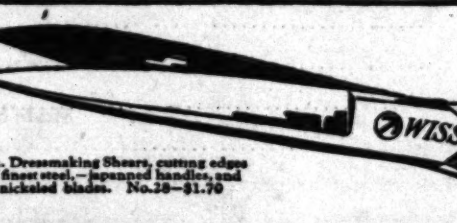

4 in. Embroidery Scissors. Dainty, needle-like points for picking up just the right thread. Cutting edges stay sharp a long time. No. 774—$1.30.

6 in. Ladies' Scissors. They cut easily and evenly, and keep sharp a long time. No. 816—$1.65.

7 in. Household Shears. Sturdy and serviceable for every household use. Outlast several pair of ordinary shears. No. 137—$1.70.

8 in. Dressmaking Shears. The favorite of professional dressmakers. Made of best quality steel. Lower blade lies flat on the table, making it easy to follow a pattern. No. 28—$1.70.

GUNS BRISTLE IN COURTROOM

Heavy Guard at Trial of Trio for Murder

Mysterious Rumors of Liberation Plot

Asserted Confession Read of Tom Bailey

A dozen heavily armed deputy sheriffs barricaded Judge Keetch's courtroom yesterday during the trial of Louis Perry, Ed Montijo and Tom Bailey, charged with the slaying of Patrolman Glenn Bond in an attempted bank robbery. Each person as he entered was searched for concealed weapons.

This precaution was taken, according to Deputy Sheriff Bell, on account of mysterious rumors that friends of the accused men were planning to liberate them.

The presence of the deputies was objected to by the defense on the ground that it would influence the jury against the defendants. Judge Keetch refused to sustain the objection and declared he had given the Sheriff's office instructions to protect the courtroom during the trial.

ACTS ON REPORTS

Judge Keetch declared that the reports that the defendants' friends were interested in the case were brought to him by Dep. Dist. Atty. Richardson.

A confession, said to have been made by Bailey, was not introduced by the State in the testimony of Detective Lieutenant Bean. In it Bailey is said to have implicated Perry and Montijo in the robbery. Bailey was put on the stand after Defense Attorney Guy Eddie objected to Lieutenant Bean's testimony.

Bailey testified he was arrested about 4 p.m. on the day of the murder and was taken to the County Hospital. There the officers showed him the still form of Perry in bed and told him that Perry was dead, Bailey said. The officers declared that before Perry died he confessed and implicated Bailey and Montijo.

DENIES HE CONFESSED

Bailey denied that he had confessed at any time. He also said he did not know that Perry was alive until he saw him later in the County Jail.

Adjournment was ordered after Bailey had testified. Other witnesses yesterday included Paul Manthey, a customer in the Seventh and Hoover streets branch of the Merchants' Bank when the attempted hold-up was staged. The witness identified Montijo as one of the three bandits.

Loan Is Sought by Elks' Club for New Home

In line with plans of the local Elks' Club to erect a new clubhouse, the Elks' Building Association yesterday began preliminary proceedings for obtaining a loan of $200,000 on property owned by the club in the Wilshire district. Attorneys for the building association said the Pacific Mutual Life Insurance Company had agreed to lend the association $200,000, to be secured by a ten-year mortgage on the property. A petition was prepared asking the Superior Court to sanction the loan.

The Elks also began negotiations looking toward the sale of property at Eighth and Flower streets and on which the club previously intended to construct its new quarters. It was said this property was now too valuable to sell for less than $100,000 and was being held for club purposes and permission to sell the land was asked of the Superior Court.

NOT OF VALUE UNTIL PICTURE IS FINISHED

CONTENTION IN TAX SUIT OF SCREEN COMPANY THAT SEEKS RECOVERY

"When is a motion picture not a motion picture?"

That is the question Superior Court will have to decide. The issue was raised yesterday by the Famous Players-Lasky Company, which filed suit for the recovery of $100,000 to have the tax assessed on the county for three photoplays: "Hollywood," "The Cheat" and "Sixty Cents an Hour." The producing company said the pictures were not complete at the time the county levied a tax assessment on them and that it was further contended that a moving-picture production has no value until it is completed and ready for exhibition.

COL. SIRMAYER WILL ADDRESS ARMY MEN

Col. Edgar A. Sirmayer of San Francisco, in charge of the National Guard in the Ninth Corps Area, will be the principal speaker at the monthly meeting and dinner tonight of the Los Angeles sector, Association of the Army of the United States. The relation of the National Guard to the Regular Army and plans for its mobilization will be discussed by Col. Sirmayer. R. T. Burge, explorer, will describe conditions in Japan. He recently returned from a tour of Japan and Siberia. Mayor Cryer also will deliver a brief address. The program will be concluded with the showing of a film taken by the Army Signal Service on the western front during the war.

LABORER KILLED BY AUTOIST WHO FLED

A motorist who did not stop after the accident yesterday ran down Pedro Acosta, injuring him fatally, and R. Diaz, road laborer, at Alameda and Los Angeles streets, south of Compton. Acosta died in Golden State Hospital and Diaz with serious hurts, was taken to the same institution. Deputy Sheriff Hosack and Nathan are searching for the motorist.

THESE BOYS WANT HOMES

Six Parentless Youngsters Domiciled by Children's Society Issue Appeal for Welcome

An appeal for homes for half a dozen homeless boys, ranging from 4 to 13 years of age, was issued yesterday by the Children's Home Society, 213 East Twenty-fifth street. The youngsters were committed to the charge of the society by the courts after their desertion by their parents or because of the death of one or both parents, and have been given a home there until they can be suitably placed.

A number of the boys, it is stated, have been in the Los Angeles home for several weeks, and have grown restive in the daily expectation that they would be called for by some childless couple who desired a smiling face and a pair of willing hands in their home. Thus far the boys have been disappointed, though they have not yet given up hope.

SOCIETY APPEALS

In the belief that there are scores of men and women of California who want boys in their home but do not know where to find them, the society has appealed to The Times to aid in locating homes for these young gentlemen. Miss Cory, one of the boys' matrons at the home, has supplied a description of each of her charges and will be glad to go into further detail upon request.

Warren—a bright boy of 13, gets along well in school and is expected to a good education. He has blue eyes and light hair.

SALVATION DRIVE WILL BE SPEEDED

Army Campaigners Plan to Redouble Efforts to Overcome Slump

Today, the third of the Salvation Army's fund campaign, will be one of high-tension effort on the part of the 400 workers, the reason being that yesterday's results showed something of a slump, with $552.35 reported by all the downtown teams.

The Hollywood Exchange Club came to the front with $151.55, of which $92.35 was reported by the women's division and $59.20 by the men's team.

The campaign total for the first two days is $44,543.40. The goal, with four days to go, is $177,000. Workers at yesterday's luncheon at the Alexandria were confident that the objective would be attained within the time limit.

Of the downtown exchange club division, Edna H. Cline made the best showing yesterday with a total of $853. Edwin Lester's division reported $314.

The women's division, of which Lillian Burkhardt Goldsmith is chairman, turned in a total of $1574.60, cash and pledges, the team captained by Dr. L. Grandmason making the best showing with $469.50 cash.

Henry W. O'Melveny, member of the Army's advisory board, speaking at yesterday's luncheon, recalled the army's war-time drives and urged the workers to show the same energy and devotion as was then manifest.

There will be no luncheon today. Instead, the workers will gather at dinner at 6 o'clock p. m. at the Alexandria. Saturday will be the day when the campaign will be resumed Monday.

Silverware is Recovered; Two Suspects Held

Stolen silverware valued at more than $2000 was recovered in the attic of a house at 1014 North Broadway yesterday by Assistant Captain of Detective Cato and Detective Lieutenant Hume following the arrest of Otto Orlando and James Blotto Wednesday night on suspicion of burglary.

The pair were taken into custody at Alpine street and North Broadway. A suitcase and an overcoat found in their possession are being held for identification. The house on North Broadway was located from an address found in the recent activities of the pair on the strength of the recovery of the property. It was stated.

ORDINANCES FOR LIGHTING

The ordinances of intention for the establishment of ornamental lighting posts on Vermont avenue, from Hollywood Boulevard to Middlebury street, and on Cahuegan avenue, from Highland avenue to Hollywood Boulevard, have been adopted by the City Council.

ASKS CITY TO RETAIN MEMORIAL

Sculptor Seeks $6500 He Asserts Due Him on Pomona Veteran Statue

With reference to the situation arising out of the nonpayment of a bill said to be due Burt W. Johnson, sculptor, for the statue he made for Pomona as a memorial to the World War veterans of Pomona Valley, Mr. Johnson made the following statement yesterday: "About three years ago I entered what is known as a gentlemen's agreement with a committee of Pomona citizens appointed as a result of a mass meeting under which I was engaged to create a memorial statue of accepted design to be placed in Pomona as a memorial to the World War veterans of Pomona Valley."

"The cost of the statue in place was to be $17,000. This was not to be paid for workmanship, as I agreed to donate that as a citizen of Pomona Valley. The lowest valuation by authorities competent to judge was $20,000. The statue was completed and put up as per design and was dedicated November 11, 1923, before an audience of about 6000 persons. It was received enthusiastically."

"To date I have been paid $10,400. The balance asked for by me is $6500, the other $1000 being taken care of by pledges in the hands of the treasurer of the Memorial Statue Association. Committee for the city have not acknowledged the obligation of this debt despite my repeated requests that they do so. Therefore, it was put into the hands of capable attorneys to determine what my legal rights are. As no acknowledgment of the debt has been made up to the 1st inst., the proposition was made by my attorneys to the community at large through the Pomona newspapers to sell the statue at auction, a procedure which they do not wish to adopt, according to my attorneys. The only other course of action would be a suit against the city and individuals of the committee. I preferred to adopt the former method because this is a World War memorial and after its dedication has similar significance to the national flag."

"I have waited six months pleading personally to the various clubs, City Council and individuals of Pomona to make some effort to clear this matter up. It is only fair to say that the president of the Chamber of Commerce, S. E. Clark, with heroic efforts on the part of the Pomona Progress, is trying to work up some enthusiasm among the townspeople on the subject. Letters received by the Pomona Progress indicate that many of the best people of the community want this matter cleared up, and it is hoped that the proposed auction can be averted. The statue was made for Pomona and I would like to see it stay there."

McBride Trial Jury Fails to Reach Verdict

George A. McBride, accused of the robbery of the Pico and Valencia-street branch of the Pacific Southwest Trust and Savings Bank, will have to stand retrial on the charge, the jury that heard the testimony at his trial yesterday, in Judge Monroe's court, having failed to reach a verdict after seven hours' deliberation. The foreman reported the jurors were hopelessly deadlocked and Judge Monroe discharged the twelve men and women.

McBride was asserted to have held up John Y. Elwood, teller in the bank, and to have taken $1800 in currency. The asserted robbery occurred January 23, last.

McBride set up the defense that he was not in the bank at the time of the hold-up.

NO VERDICT; CAREY CHARGE IS DROPPED

A jury in Judge Archibald's juvenile court failed to reach a verdict yesterday in the case of Charles Carey, 22 years of age, charged with contributing to the delinquency of four minor girls of Long Beach. Carey was accused of permitting the girls to sleep with him in his room at a rooming-house on Potter Park street.

The girls, the testimony showed, came to Los Angeles in search of fortune, ran out of funds and were befriended by Carey, who later gave them money with which to return to their homes in Long Beach.

The youth denied any wrongdoing with the girls and after discharging the jury Judge Archibald ordered the case off calendar.

CORNERSTONE TO BE LAID FOR CITY HALL

The corner-stone of the new Saville District Branch City Hall will be laid at 2 p.m. on June 19, next, and members of the Board of Public Works and of the City Council have accepted invitations to be present. The building is to cost $110,000 and will be of brick and reinforced concrete. It will house a fire engine company, Branch Public Library, Police Court, Deputy City Clerk, Deputy City Engineer, Building Department and other city offices. The foundation of the building, which is to be at Santa Monica Boulevard and 16th avenue, has been laid, and it is expected that the structure will be completed, furnished and in use within one year. It is being built by the city under direction of Construction Superintendent C. O. Brittain.

LOAN FOR FIRE-BOAT PLANS IS APPROVED

Fire Chief Scott yesterday obtained the approval of the Board of Fire Commissioners to a request which will be forwarded to the City Council today asking that $15,000 be loaned at once from the reserve fund so that plans for the new $400,000 Harbor fire boat can be prepared. The Chief also asked that the fire-boat bonds be sold at once so that when the plans for the boat are completed work can start at once on building it. The boat is needed urgently to protect the water front, the Chief said.

COLLEEN MOORE ALL GROWN UP IN "SO BIG"

By Grace Kingsley

Feeling that she has now happened long and had enough in earning her daily bread Colleen Moore is going to depart from that line of characterizations entirely. She declares:

"I was scared to death of the part at first," said Miss Moore.
"Not only is it a heavy acting part, but I feared to try to play the older woman. Then I remembered that I played the part of the mother in 'Daddy' and so I felt assured that I could undertake this."

"I am very happy over the part now, for it will give me a big chance. I want to get away from flapper roles. I feel that I have got everything out of them that I can."

Nobody, of course, could be more than a perfect flapper, and that is the eastern reports. In what Miss Moore has achieved in "The Perfect Flapper," which has just been released back here, indeed the reports say that her work in that picture places her in the first ranks as a film actress.

BEVERLY BAYNE WILL PLAY IN WARNER FILM
Something of a thrill ran along Alarm Clock Lane yesterday when it was learned that Bereverly Bayne, beautiful wife of Francis X. Bushman, is coming out of retirement, and will appear in films with the Warner Brothers.

Miss Bayne signed yesterday to play the leading feminine role opposite Monte Blue in "Her Marriage Vow," in which she and Blue will be featured.

This will be the first time that Miss Bayne has appeared in films without her husband, Mr. Bushman, whose leading lady she was in Vitaphone films for many months before the pair were married, and after which marriage
she continued as his lead.

The association of the two as costars extended over a period of seven years, after which they went their vaudeville. When looking around for an actor important enough for a certain important part in "Her Marriage Vow," Goldwyn chose Francis X. Bushman, and so for the first time the Pyramus and Thisbe of pictorialdom were separated, both professionally and actually. Mr.
Bushman is now in Rome, where Mrs. Bushman had expected to join him, but her signing with the Warners will prevent her taking the trip.

Millard Webb is directing "Her Marriage Vow," and others playing important parts in the picture will be Willard Louis, lately signed by the Warners on a long-term contract, Margaret Livingston, Allen Forrest, and Little Eddie Moran.

Hal Roach says
Film stars are due to be entitled with a lot of new comedies from the Hal Roach vineyard of comedy art, according to announcement just received.

A satire on Douglas Fairbanks' "The Thief of Bagdad" has been completed, with Earl Moran and Billy English in the leading roles.
D. Ross Lederman and Albert
Austin directed. Katherine Grant and Deloraine Johnson had the feminine leads.

The Spat Family is fighting its way through another two-reel domestic squabble under the direction of Jay A. Howe. Frank Butler, Laura Keane and Sidney D'Albrook form the troublesome trio from whose matrimonial strife
Roach is extracting laughs.

The dramatic debut of Arthur Stone, until recently an Orpheum headliner, is taking place under the direction of James Davis.
Roach went to the Orpheum in Los Angeles a month or so ago and nearly laughed himself into a fit when he saw the act.

Contract followed. James Pinlayson, one of Roach's most reliable funsters, is being featured with Stone. Pinlayson, by the way, is planning a trip to his native Scotland within the near future.

The King of the Orpheum was last night the star of a new production, "The King of the Orpheum," which has been completed and would soon be ready for release.

WILD HORSES NEXT
ON MILLER SCREEN

About a month ago Hal Roach announced that his novelty feature production, "The King of Wild Horses," had been completed and would soon be ready
for release.

Fred Miller of Miller's Theater has secured it and will offer it to the Los Angeles public just as soon as the crowds stop coming to see Elmer Fudd's "The Wild Horses," which is now in its fifth week at that house and still going strong.

"The King of Wild Horses" is the kind of picture that will find favor with young and old alike.
It has a pleasing romantic inter-story, filled with heart interests, laughs and human touches.
It was made over in Arizona and New Mexico in a wild but alluringly beautiful section of that country, and its scenic background are both artistic and unusual.

Its star is a newcomer to the screen but the kind of a newcomer that will instantly become a popular hero. He is Rex. Less than a year ago he was an untamed stallion, heading a wild band of horses that made their home in the mountain and desert fastnesses.

REX BEACH STORY ON WAY TO CALIFORNIA
Betty Blythe and Mahlon Hamilton in Rex Beach's dramatic story, "Reckless," will be the attraction at the California starting tomorrow.

The picture was filmed in France with an American cast by J. Park Read, Jr., who is known for offering lavish productions on the screen.

The story is said to be intriguing and thrilling. It tells the love story of Gordon Kent, an American millionaire, and Norma Selbee, an American girl stranded in Paris. Lawrence Marchmont, a crook, who has been following her about makes love to her after she is married to Kent and the two run away. Kent hunts them down, having orders that they shall be compelled to live together for the rest of their lives.
His friend and the influence of his friend, enable him to carry out his purpose. It is through this melodramatic love story that Kent becomes convinced that Norma really loves him and flees with her to South America.

Two WIN SUCCESS
IN RIALTO STORY
In selecting Norma Shearer for a leading part in "Broadway After Dark," now at Grauman's Rialto, Director Maurice Bell indulged in an interesting experiment.

Miss Shearer was practically unknown, having appeared but a few times before the camera. It meant that it would either make or break not only Miss Shearer, as far as her screen career was concerned, but do much toward establishing Bell as a judge of film values. Also.

However, the results were more than gratifying. Both Monte Bell and Norma Shearer scored personal triumphs, each giving exceptionally fine accounts of their talents, and now find themselves back in the on the coveted ladder of fame.

MRS. TOMBLIN IS JAILED

Clubwoman, Formerly Prominent at Pasadena, and Here, Held for $1000 Hotel Bill

(Illustration on Picture Page)
Mrs. Marie Tomblin, formerly prominent in social circles of Los Angeles and Pasadena, was returned here yesterday from San Francisco, a prisoner, to answer charges of failure to pay a $1000 hotel bill in Pasadena.

Accompanying her was Mrs. Bettie Taw of the sheriff's office, who brought Mrs. Tomblin from San Francisco where she was arrested several days ago.

HER EXPLANATION
"If the detectives who have followed me recently had let me go about my business unobstructed," the widow declared, "I would have raised the money to pay my bill at Pasadena."

As she was about to be booked at the County Jail at 8 a.m. yesterday, Mrs. Tomblin asked that people be told she had always paid her bills, that in spite of financial difficulties recently, she still will be able to do so.

The sheriff's office here is holding her until authorities at Pasadena signify their intentions. At a late hour yesterday there had been no instructions received, it is said.

ROSS FIELD
AIR SCHOOL
IS PLANNED

All Army Officers Invited to Take Course of Four Weeks This Summer

In order to make available summer military training for those oficers who find it impossible to attend the regularly designated War Department training camps and to provide lighter-than-air reserve officers with the opportunity for flying training, Ross Field at Arcadia will conduct a camp from July 14 to August 3.

Officers of the United States are eligible to attend. This includes the organized reserves. National Guard and Regular Army.

There is attached a training schedule covering the four weeks of the camp. Activities are a major subject in this course. All training will be conducted out-of-doors.

Ross Field is fifteen miles from Los Angeles, close to Mt. Wilson, and is ideally situated for such a camp. Married quarters are available on the post for approximately ten families. Quarters are available for bachelor officers.

Officers desiring to attend this camp will not be required to purchase the entire course. They may start or quit the training at any time within the four weeks' period. For the purpose of making preparations, it is requested, however, that all officers intending to participate notify the commanding officer, Ross Field, as soon as possible, stating the approximate date of their arrival, length of stay at the camp, and whether they desire married officers' quarters. In the latter event, the officer will be notified if such quarters are available.

There are no funds available for the mileage or pay of individuals who will be connected with the operation of the camp, either as instructors or students. Army coats and mattresses will be provided, but it will be necessary for each individual to bring bed linen and blankets.

Court Refuses Probation for State Witness

Basel Canterbury was denied probation by Judge Hardy of the Superior Court and sentenced to Folsom Prison for one to fifteen years. He was convicted of second-degree burglary.

SMILES, SIGHS
and ODDITIES
in DAYS NEWS

"Allegro" is all right when you are playing on a violin but that kind of a tune executed on the gas throttle of an automobile is taboo.

Mrs. Tomblin was known here as Mrs. Rickenbacker, wife of a Connecticut manufacturer. She is also said to have been married to a New York multi-millionaire, who gave her $2,000,000 three days after marriage. Under the terms of an agreement with her husband, she was not allowed to use his name, Mrs. Tomblin declared.

Later she married August E. Rickenbacker, she says.

DECLARED INCOMPETENT
In 1921, Marie Tomblin was declared incompetent by a local probate court, but was declared sane again on December 19, 1922.

At the time the court declared her incompetent, Marie Tomblin's assets were given as $97,000 in real estate and $5000 in personal property.

Mrs. Tomblin is said to have been at one time to several Los Angeles women's clubs and to have been active in social circles.

According to San Francisco officials she owes a $200 hotel bill in the Bay City.

Heipate notify the commanding officer, Ross Field, as soon as possible, stating the approximate date of their arrival, length of stay at the camp, and whether they desire married officers' quarters. In the latter event, the officer will be notified if such quarters are available.

There are no funds available for the mileage or pay of individuals who will be connected with the operation of the camp, either as instructors or students. Army coats and mattresses will be provided, but it will be necessary for each individual to bring bed linen and blankets.

Court Refuses Probation for State Witness

Basel Canterbury was denied probation by Judge Hardy of the Superior Court and sentenced to Folsom Prison for one to fifteen years. He was convicted of second-degree burglary.

Canterbury was an important State witness in the trial of Thurman Boatwright, who was convicted last year of the murder of Felix Beasley.

A few days ago Boatwright's sister, Mrs. R. E. Pentecost, filed charges with the District Attorney that Canterbury and Jack Francis, held by Federal authorities on charges of transporting stolen automobiles, had framed her brother and that they, themselves, had slain Beasley. Mrs. Pentecost was primarily responsible for the arrest of Francis.

Max Guillen was arraigned yesterday before Judge Hardy on a charge of murder and was allowed to postpone his plea until next Monday. Dooley indicted a cook aboard the Mississippian for having the flour for the night. He was charged with suspicion of grand larceny.

BEACH CONTRACTOR PASSES

John W. Moist, Former Councilman, Stricken While Supervising Construction Work

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent
LONG BEACH, May 15.—John W. Moist, prominent Long Beach contractor and former member of the City Council, died early today in an ambulance while being removed to Seaside Hospital, after a collapse at 343 West Third street.

Mr. Moist had left his home, 127 West Fourth street, to supervise a construction job and had been at work a short time when he was stricken. He was a resident of Long Beach for eighteen years.

Besides his widow he leaves five children. Mrs. Mae Bartow of Los Angeles, Mrs. Esther Van Winkle of Los Angeles, Mrs. Floy Marks of Los Angeles, Charles Moist of this city and Mrs. Maude Winchel of San Francisco. Funeral arrangements will not be completed until the arrival here of Mrs. Winchel.

Mr. Moist was a member of the Long Beach lodge of Elks and was chairman of the committee on arrangements for the 1934 State convention of Elks at Catalina, to be conducted in September.
